

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A heat shield for a catalytic converter includes a substrate and a coating made from Al-Si. The coating is applied to the substrate to form a mechanical bond between the substrate and the coating to provide a damping layer to reduce the peak resonances of the heat shield